GIANTS AND CARDS TRYING TOO HARD FOR FLAG; CUBS BENEFIT

Chicago Only Percentage Points Behind St Louis Team

BY HUGHES FULLERTON JR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Giants and the Cardinals have learned to their sorrow that there's such a thing as trying too hard and as a result of their efforts both were in a fix of a hole today while the Chicago Cubs were only a short hop away from the National League lead

The Giants won the second game of their critical series with St Louis 3 to 10 in 10 innings and returned to the place shared by and started 1½ games behind the lead

More to the point however were the facts that the two clubs played anything but championship ball made nine errors between them and sent nine pitchers to the mound in vain efforts to check the carnage

Dizzy Is Victim

The elder Dean a brilliant victor in the opening encounter was the victim of New York's three run tenth inning rally that settled the game

The Cards got away to an early lead but the Giants rallied to tie the score and survived an amazing ninth inning exchange in which each team scored four runs to prolong the affair Dean best fielding hit of the day was an unusual unassisted double play which Pepper Martin pulled off after dropping Bill Terry's line drive He picked up the ball while both runners forgot to move and raced over to first base to put them both out

The Cubs meanwhile continued their scorching drive through their fourth straight victory by walloping the Dodgers 11 to 1 That put them into a virtual tie with the defeated Giants but they remained in second place by a few percentage points The spreading Chicagoans bashed out against George Lanshaw for four hits and three runs in the fourth after spotting Brooklyn the first tally added another run in the fifth then coasted through behind Larry French's steady hurling

The American League's fielding series became less and less crucial as the Tigers belted out their second straight victory over the Yankees 13 to 5 and increased their lead to 9½ games over put Detroit in a position to capture the pennant by winning half of its remaining 16 games Tom Gorbic did his best to avert defeat with his 20th and 30th homers

Wes Ferrell Wins

The Athletics hit the days high spots when they hammered out 10 hits scored eight runs in the first inning and tripped the White Sox 10 to 7 The Red Sox also did some heavy hitting as they beat St Louis 13 to 4 for Wes Ferrell in the first game of a doubleheader but the Browns won the second 12 Washington shoved the Indians further down in the standings

LITTLE MAKES LAST BID FOR GRAND SLAM IN AMATEUR GOLF

Champion Sinks 50 Yard Putt To Climax Defeat of Goodman

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O Sept 14—William Lawson Little Jr the man with a stacked deck made his last bid for his second straight little slam of amateur golf competition today

Across from him was 23 year-old Walter Emery of Oklahoma City with an assortment of cards that haven't been beaten all week but there wasn't a golfing philosopher about who figured he had a chance of setting the power faced wizard from San Francisco who hasn't lost a game in 30 straight matches over his record smashing sweep from Prestwick to Brookline to St Annes to Cleveland

It is true that Jimmy J Bradden rose to spike down Max Baer and Walter Allison Small stopped the great Fred Perry yet Emery a task of greater Little looked even more gigantic The greatest Grant Miller in the game John Goodman of Omaha broke by one blow over 36 holes in a courageous attempt yesterday but he too was crushed by a merciless attack that left him beaten man by 4 and 2

Emery equipped with a magic putter that has seared the hopes of seven successive foes was a fine player and a grand fighter as he has demonstrated over the last five days during which he has smashed par by five shots over 125 holes completing his job yesterday by lynching Joe Lynch portly Pottstonian 4 and 3

Little's stacked deck of eight 3 from 300 yards or more straight down the fairways from that split the pins from every position or distance and puts that drop into the cups like leaves stacked Goodman's drive landed on the rope and fell him there Two down at lunch time with a medal card of 73 to Little's 74 one under par Goodman equalled the tournament record on the front nine of the afternoon by shooting a 32 On the final lickward drive Little shot three birds and three pars to win four out of six holes and the match On the 34th green he putted from 50 feet beyond a partial stymie a putt that had to be exactly perfect to end it

CHICAGO PIT IGNORES ARGENTINE ADVANCE

Market Little Easier Under Pressure of Hedging Sales; Receipts Heavy.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 14—Despite 5¾ cents a bushel net advance in Argentine wheat prices this week, the Chicago wheat market today ruled a little easier most of the time.

Pressure of hedging sales largely dominated Chicago wheat values. Primary domestic receipts of wheat today were on a big scale, totaling 2,024,000 bushels against only 697,000 bushels a year ago.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼ off, Dec 56⅝-57, oats unchanged cent lower, Dec. 93⅞-94, corn ¼ to ⅜ down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

HUEY LONG: Success Story Of A Louisiana Plowboy —No. 2

Huey Long wasted no time dabbling in the political shallows. At 25, he plunged into the race for membership on the state railroad commission and won. It was then that he started his long fight with the Standard Oil Co. and the utilities. It was then, too, that he started building, cog by cog, the most powerful political machine in the history of state politics. In less than 17 years, he was to become "absolute monarch" of Louisiana, even ruling his successors in office.

His only political setback came in 1928, when, at 30, he was defeated for the governorship by only 5,000 votes by Henry L. Fuqua. Four years later, Long ran the same race, winning by a majority of 140,000. Immediately he started consolidation of his political machine, ruthlessly eliminating his enemies and those he distrusted and elevating by political preferment his friends and henchmen. His inauguration as governor ushered in the stormiest political era Louisiana has known.

Political clouds gathered over Louisiana for a year and when Governor Long called a special session of the legislature to enact a 5-cent-a-barrel tax on crude oil, the storm broke. The house, in an uproarious session, voted articles of impeachment; among the 19 charges was one that Long had ordered a bodyguard to kill an opposition legislator. Long defeated the impeachment in the senate, when one more than the necessary one-third senators declared they would vote against it.

With the impeachment battle won, Governor Long turned his eyes on Washington. In 1930, he won the senatorial election over Joseph E. Ransdell, the subject of one of Long's vicious verbal caricatures. Frequently, he referred to his bearded opponent as "Old Feather-Duster Ransdell." Long's ally, John Overton, also won over Edwin S. Broussard and two Long bond issues, one for $68,000,000 for roads and one for $5,000,000 for the new 33-story state capitol, were voted.

After his election as senator, Long refused to vacate the governorship. Long feared Dr. Paul Cyr, lieutenant governor, would destroy his political machine. Twice Cyr declared himself governor, but his home and the capitol were surrounded by militia and he could not take office. When he went before a notary and took the oath of office, Long declared Cyr had vacated his post and Alvin O. King, president pro tem of the senate, was named lieutenant governor.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

(Copyright, 1935, by Marian Sims)

SYNOPSIS: Emily has returned to Edwin Haines, from whom she ran away on their wedding night, who has made him charmless home, and plans a charming garden. She has taken the prim, opinionated Edwin in hand, and has made some progress toward revamping him. Although she has not forgotten David Carroll, or her friendship and work with Charlotte in Birmingham, Emily is beginning to believe there is hope for married life with Edwin.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN
New Crisis

EMILY was struggling with the servant problem. She surveyed the unkempt Negro girl who sat before her on the edge of a kitchen chair.

"You say Aunt Mandy sent you?"

"Yas'm. She said yo' girl had done gone to Detroit an 'fo' me to come talk to you."

Emily had infinite confidence in Aunt Mandy. "Can she recommend you?"

There was a slight hesitation. "Yas'm."

Aunt Mandy's recommendation carried some reservation. Emily felt sure. "All but what?" she prompted with a smile.

"She say fo' me to tell you I wuz a good cook, an' I wuz faithful, but I wazn't very clean. It ain't my fault 'Miss Emily,' the protest burst from a full heart, 'I jus' ain't got no clothes much. It takes all I kin make to pay fo' my victuals an' feed me an' Rosebud. Shes my baby," she explained.

"But doesn't your husband help take care of you and Rosebud?"

There was another hesitation, longer this time. "Aunt Mandy say to tell you I ain't m'ried," Narcissus confessed. "Me an 'him wuz nivin' to git m'ried, but his wife came back from Chattanooga an' commenced raisin' Cain an' he had to go live with huh to keep huh quiet. An' hones', Miss Emily, this heah's the only outside baby I ever had in my life."

Emily bent her head suddenly. When she looked up her face was grave. "I can overlook that. And I have uniforms I'd want you to wear, anyhow, but you must keep them very clean. We'll try it for a week and see how we get along."

When Narcissus had departed Emily thought how much she would have enjoyed, in spite of her resolution, telling Charlotte about this servant. She told Edwin instead, that evening after dinner.

Edwin looked startled. "And you've hired her?"

That was what he had gotten out of the story. She realized regretfully that he didn't consider it either funny or tragic.

"Why not? I think I can make an excellent servant of her."

He put down his newspaper. It was quite an occasion when Edwin put down his newspaper; reading it was becoming his evening ritual.

"I'd rather you wouldn't have a servant of that sort, dear."

She smiled at him. Already she was learning shamelessly how to "handle" Edwin, and smiling that way was one of the most successful methods. He hadn't yet gotten used to it.

"But they're nearly all 'that sort.' And I'd much rather help her to make a living than have her acquire a second Rosebud in the process of keeping up the first one."

He looked at her very hard. He said gravely:

"You say astonishing things, some times."

She waited until bedtime, and then returned to the topic. "Edwin, why do you shy away from the subject of babies?"

He was meticulously hanging up his business suit. "I don't, except when you joke about it. It's just that the whole subject is rather—sacred to me."

What an amazing lot of sanctity there was in the world, then, she thought, and wisely refrained from saying so.

Edwin hung up the suit and came back to sit beside her on the bed. He was glad Emily had brought up the subject, since it gave him the opportunity for which he had been waiting. He had been restrained by this same reticence from forcing the topic upon Emily, but now he felt that he could speak frankly.

"To tell you the truth, sweetheart," he had taken one of her hands and was looking at it thoughtfully, as if he'd never seen it before, "I'd like a child more than anything in the world, wouldn't you? I think it would be a good thing for us both."

For herself, she knew he meant; to curb the spirit of levity and bind her irrevocably to her home and him. And for himself, to supply the confidence in his own masculinity [illegible] old-fashioned and all that, but I can't help it." His tone was an even blend of apology and complacency.

"And wouldn't want to help it if you could, would you?"

Suddenly she was ashamed of her laughter.

"Dearest, I'm incorrigible. Please forgive me." She kissed him, and his arms closed hungrily about her.

Jeffrey and confession come Monday.

5 BODIES REMOVED AFTER RAIL WRECK

More Feared Dead as Blaze Destroys 15 Cars on Illinois Central

By The Associated Press

MONROE La Sept 14—Five unidentified bodies were removed early today from the ruins of about 15 freight cars which were destroyed by fire after the derailment of an Illinois Central east bound train three miles west of here

Five more transients riding the freight were rescued from the wreckage and taken to the hospital suffering from injuries

One of the injured listed as Pete Rigas of Chicago La was found in the wreckage between two derailed cars and physicians had to amputate his right leg with pocket knives to release him

Rigas yelled for a knife with which to take his own life because he feared he would be tortured to death by firemen cutting him through one of the cars and the physicians went through it and severed his leg

Rescue workers feared that there were other victims of transients under the smouldering ruins

A man who said he was Melvin Johnson 24 of Springfield Mo who was riding behind the derailed cars declared that there were between 30 and 40 transients riding on the railings of two oil cars in the midst of the carnage that piled up and burst into flames

His statement was corroborated by a man listed as Robert Nolan an Indiana transient Both said that still a number of the men may have escaped and left the scene It was their belief that more of them were trapped and burned to death

EXTRA SESSION MAY UNDO LONG'S WORK

Roosevelt administration as Long deprived of federal patronage attempted to regulate federal relief expenditures in Louisiana and to inaugurate a states rights test of Roosevelt policies

Anti Long leaders want a special session to repeal some of the Long election laws vesting broad control of the polls in the state before the quadrennial state primaries in January at which Sen Long's successor for the full term congressmen and all important state officers from governor down are to be named

The dictatorial laws that have made conditions intolerable in Louisiana should be repealed said Charles P Manship Baton Rouge publisher in voicing the sentiment of the opposition

Says Battle Is Over

Confirmation of a proposed truce between the Long political heirs and President Roosevelt came from Congressman Paul H Maloney who said after a state administration caucus

The battle between Sen Long and President Roosevelt is over I think and many of us think the same way that a Democratic state should work with a Democratic President for the general good of the state I will be glad to do my part but as yet the whole thing is unsettled

He declared for concessions on both sides

Leaders in the state administration high command are particularly anxious to see the government terminate its income tax investigations among leading Long followers

Rev Gerald L K Smith national organizer for Share The Wealth clubs who only the day before delivered the eulogy at Long's grave went on the air here last night and in a speech similar to those the senator used to make assailed Louisiana newspapers charged Long's death had brought gloating and scepticism hilarity in some quarters and told his leaders the Louisiana organization leaders are standing together as one man to carry on the work of Huey Long

Ballots Ballot Vengeance

The blood of Huey Long will be avenged But this will be done in the election in January by your ballots

Earl Christenberry Long's secretary said last night that it will surprise everybody how small the senator's estate will be

He said Long's will had not yet been located

He said Long carried $50 000 in life insurance but he did not know what portion of it carried double indemnity clauses There is a $25 000 loan against the policies made two years ago Christenberry said for printing political circulars and in order that the senator might make a deposit to stop a run on a bank

Match Is Evened

Emery missed a chance to increase his lead on the 16th hole by clinching the cup from 6 feet after a fine approach shot to the green Both got down in 4 each

Little's 20 foot putt for a birdie 3 stopped 6 inches past and Emery's second shot was 2 feet away on the 16th Emery was 2 feet will but ran his approach putt closer than the champion who overran the hole by two feet to his try for the birdie The half in 3 strokes left Emery one up

Twelfth hole Emery's drive carried 275 yards and was even with the champion's wallop Both played safe on the dogleg in out Emery's third trickled over the back edge of the green while Little's iron was 20 feet beyond Both chipped close and it was a half in fives

Fifth outdrove the tall Oklahoman 50 yards with a magnificent 400 yard wallop on the 12th His niblick approach stopped 12 feet away while Emery's second shot was 25 feet from the pin The challenger missed a five foot putt after Little's bold bid for a birdie skipped 6 inches past (All even)

Little Takes Lead

Little overplayed his tee shot on the 14th Emery hit his approach putt weakly and was five feet short He got it down for the half however

The champion finally went into the lead on the 15th by getting home with two nice shots and dropping a 15 foot sidehill putt for a birdie three Emery's second was short by 10 yards He half topped his third The ball rolled 20 feet past the cup and his putt missed by three feet giving him a 1

The Oklahoman then sank the putt for a four Little straight ad the way pulled three feet short after the demonstration subsided getting the next one down for his four

Lawyer Plans Interview

Morris Ernst noted liberal attorney engaged by Hoey planned to interview Rogers

Rogers released along with William J Kelly a cameraman employed by him on $2 000 bail to assure appearance at the inquest next Wednesday or Friday remained in Pennsylvania at the home of one of his attorneys

Besides the investigations by Ernst for the Hoey family and by the Rogers attorneys the tragedy was still being probed by the county authorities District Attorney William Parks said it was his private opinion Miss Hoey committed suicide but added that he was seeking more facts

Dr H H F Davis announced after an autopsy that every evidence pointed to suicide

Both Rogers and Kelly were fingerprinted before their release yesterday

Every effort was being made also to learn the exact movements of Miss Hoey just before she was killed

Looks Like Suicide

I'll admit I haven't had time to read the complete report of the autopsy the district attorney said but it seems to me that taking the story of Claude Battin the farmer who was in the house at the time and considering the trajectory of the bullet which passed into Miss Hoey's right temple and out through the left portion of her skull lodging high up in the wall near the ceiling taking these things into consideration it all looks to me as if the young woman shot herself

There were powder marks about the wound also

Then we found that Rogers story and Kelly's dovetailed in every important respect Battin Kelly and the cook all agreed that Rogers was on the living room sofa at the time of the shooting upstairs

Of course we're still investigating

Clarke emphasized At present we definitely do not suspect Rogers of murder

Canada hopes an honorable and peaceful solution of the controversy will yet be reached he said and added

If unfortunately this proves not to be the case Canada will join other members of the league in considering how by unanimous action peace can be maintained

Spokesmen for the Little Entente the Balkan states and other nations of Europe joined the rally swelling into imposing proportions the protest against an Italian invasion of Ethiopia

WILL ROGERS PICTURE OPENS

'Steamboat Round the Bend' Comes to Ohio for Week's Run

The late Will Rogers picture Steamboat Round the Bend which has been sending box office record soaring wherever it has been shown since its recent release opened a week's stay at the Ohio today

In nearby Columbus Tiffin and Mt Vernon theater managers report they've never seen anything like the rush there's been to see Rogers' notable comedian philosopher in the second picture he made and the same record smashing reports have been issued all over the country

Fox Films producer made 17 prints more of this picture than of any other ever released to meet the demands of 600 exhibitors in every corner of the United States

A glowing review in a trade magazine for exhibitors said of it

There has never been a Will Rogers picture like this It marks a complete change of pace for the comedian and gives him for the first time a chance to act And how he takes off his coat and sets into it

The picture brought together two of the staunchest friends the keenest rivals for hilarious high comedy honors Rogers and Irvin Cobb noted American author

They were as the roles of rival pilots of Mississippi river packets When the time came for the big steamboat race which is described in one of the most intensely thrilling pictures ever filmed Rogers decided to call his craft Clairemore Cue in honor of his hometown in Oklahoma Cobb countered by naming his Pride of Paducah since he hails from Paducah by Cobb has been doing a series of short comedies and only the opportunity to pair with his old friend Rogers lured him into a feature length picture

Lost as these two world famous humorists the cast offers Anne Shirley the coilish fun young girl who captured hearts with her charming work in the title role of Anne of Green Gables In Steamboat Round the Bend she departs from her child roles and plays a girl of the swamps whose affection love for a river boy furnishes the plot motivation for the picture

The young man with whom she falls in love is played by John J McGuire a University of Santa Clara graduate who makes his first appearance in a featured role

Berton Churchill Eugene Pallette and Stepin Fetchit the only man of his race who attended the small Rogers funeral are important members of the supporting cast

Ben Lucien Burman's novel furnished the original story and the same scenarists and director who worked on Rogers Judge Priest were responsible for Steamboat Round the Bend

Three expressions from the river folk's language which have become universally known and which many Marionites will meet for the first time in their natural setting are to be found in this colorful story of the Mississippi river days of the 80's

Perhaps one of the most famous of them is mark twain the leadsman's phrase for declaring that the river depth was 12 feet and later the pen name for Samuel S Clemens

The term by the mississippi is frequently used today by those whom the Mississippi jacket from the face Pete which was marked with a name knotted term pure American in that its texas descriptive of the look over the passenger lists on which hell the left called It was originally by Mark at the time that was the but been added to the by the designation

Adowa First

Persons most interested in the probabilities of the coming war Italy in the thundercrack statements of diplomats who do their fighting with words anticipate that the first combat will be at Adowa scene of Italy's defeat by Ethiopia in 1896 Dispatches from both Rome and Eritrea indicate Italy will avenge itself for that ancient humiliation before it opens a general campaign

The story of Adowa helps to explain why Italians resent the charge they are guilty of unprovoked aggression against Ethiopia

As early as 1857 Italy was in direct conflict with Ethiopia and was defeated in battle that year at Dogali Ethiopia subsequently fell into turmoil however and Italy gained by diplomacy what it had not been able to gain by militarism It was given Eritrea and a virtual protectorate over Ethiopia

France jealous of Italy which had been supported by Great Britain persuaded Ethiopia to betray Italy and in 1895 Italian soldiers again tried to invade Ethiopian territory They were defeated in two battles Ethiopia then declared it was ready to talk peace but Italy refused The government at Rome ordered an offensive and when the Italian commander refused it sent another commander to replace him

Before arrival of the second commander the general in the field resolved to make a coup On March 1 1896 he moved on the Ethiopian position at Adowa The result was a shambles Italy's soldiers were badly organized and equipped They were demoralized and weary At least a fourth of them were killed and wounded Thousands were captured by the Ethiopians Back in Rome the defeat caused the fall of a cabinet

That was the battle of Adowa which Premier Mussolini hasn't let Italian patriots forget In 1935 Italy will resume where it was forced to leave off in 1896 Unprovoked aggression? Is little wonder the phrase sounds hollow to a population whose anger has been cherished 40 years

Refusal

Refusal of the Muskingum conservancy district's request for additional funds to expand its flood control plans is a hard blow but not an unexpected one The federal government has been following a policy on work relief which virtually prohibits projects entailing large expenditures on materials Though it may depart from the policy to suit its own convenience, the policy is applicable to all projects in which the federal government is not particularly interested

The conservancy district has obtained $4 850 000 from the federal government Its request for an additional grant of $13 912 000 would have given it almost $36 000 000 for one project plus approximately $12 000 000 raised within the district and within the state However great may be the need for additions to original plans the federal government obviously could not begin to satisfy all the desires of every group sponsoring worthy projects

The additional money requested would have provided the conservancy district with additional means of flood control in the northern part of its drainage area Floods this summer showed plainly the desirability of attacking the problem at the root which lies north of the region where the bulk of the conservancy district development is being made It would be a desirable extension of the project everybody agrees on that point For the present however it is not being viewed by Washington at least as a feasible extension

Futility.

Minneapolis scene of many bitter riots between pickets and representatives of truck owners has two fatalities to add to its union war casualty list In a fight Thursday night between policemen and pickets at an ornamental iron company's plant two men were killed

It's difficult to decide which side started the riot In the last analysis such things aren't really started by one side or the other Policemen and pickets both ready for a fight merely fail to fighting on the first pretext offered

No one knows what they gain other than the satisfaction of fighting Possibly, policemen prevent property damage by mobs and obviously they keep pickets aware of the fact there are limitations on what they can do without becoming disorderly. But it shouldn't be necessary to risk and occasionally to take lives for such meager results

Policemen and pickets are not different from each other they have no more fraternity to hurt and to kill each other Yet in Minneapolis and in scores of cities recently it has occurred and probably will occur again Why?

Because some loud mouthed agitator or racketeer hand and glove with arbitrary employers of the other hand order their followers to start a fight A line is drawn and the cry goes up challenged to cross it The result is violence bitterness and occasionally murder Nothing is ever proved or disproved except that nothing was ever settled by fighting Unfortunately there is apparently nothing to do about it unless it be to exile a few thousand years until the intelligent animal that walks upright grows up

Fractious Team

When a farmer has two horses who won't pull together he either breaks them of their bad habits or follows sells one of them or both of the horses and gets a new combination

Harry Hopkins of Harold Ickes the county agent by deer kicking over the traces and tripping each other again Together with Dr Rob Brown Clark Walker as driver they are supposed to be doing the best pulling on work relief at Hopkins in WPA and Secretary Ickes in PWA

Their type of cooperation is purely an administrative problem President Roosevelt head of the administrative branch of the government is responsible for both men If they cannot agree it is the President's job to lay down the law and enforce it Mr Hopkins may be right or Secretary Ickes may be right One of them must be wrong according to the things they are trying to do

Mr Hopkins has a reputation as a free spender If was assumed to have the upper hand over Secretary Ickes in work relief for that reason Secretary Ickes had seemed to be too cautious in administering PWA Yet strangely enough it is Mr Hopkins in the present instance who seems to be putting on the brakes and Secretary Ickes who is urging a restraint

It is President Roosevelt's duty to make them pull together Work relief is his idea He should know what he wants to do about it Both Mr Hopkins and Mr Ickes are subordinate officers in the government It may be perfectly natural for them to disagree but the public senses something wrong when their disagreements seem to indicate President Roosevelt isn't able to keep them from doing their fighting in the open Both are appointive officials responsible to Mr Roosevelt for their jobs Their battle neither reflects or discredit on themselves but only on the President

Stabilizer

Those who amuse themselves with speculation on ways of reaching greater perfection in government will be interested in the announcement that Greece will hold a plebiscite Nov 47 on return of a monarchy

Greece has been experimenting for more than 10 years with a republican form of government They have been years of unpleasantness of violence and of deep uncertainty Nowhere in the world in the tradition of popular government older than it is in Greece yet Greeks still are seeking a system that will work

Apparently they are going to vote for reestablishment of a monarchy Premier Tsaldaris a republican resigned a few weeks ago which was take it mean he was yielding to royalist sentiment Royalists gained important strength from the unsuccessful revolt led by Leutherios Venizelos last spring until the banner of opposition to a fascist trend in government

Greek royalists have their eye on the British government which supplies a ruling supplies a degree of stability rarely found in democracies A republic with a king is not of course a paradox since it implies only the presence of a king and not the surrender of a scintilla power to a throne Greece with a king might attain a higher level of representative government than it has been able to attain without ruling king George II who has been an exile now for 11 years may be the stabilizer Greek politics has lacked during the chaotic years since it decided to do away with a throne The experience apparently has strengthened royalty in Greece

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK Sept 14 Spring is so rapturously exquisite The phenomenon of sunrise is a very thing in a short lease given us of it Every golden day breaks One moment a sleepy golden aura through a curtain of lacy cool shadows—the next a silver radiance of dew and clear day

A philosopher I met as I stroll has compared the breaking of day to the experience of death A soul flying out of the plenitude of dark night into the sunlight of clearer cosmic areas and beauty But city day breaks are reborn of much splendor by man made creations And neglect

The upward view from my window this morning was auroled with heavenly tints Dawn was brushing its first fair glint and in the background was the gleam of the Chrysler spire in prophetic point further south the Empire shaft like a needled rainbow pierced the haze

But below the rattle of garbage cans the honk of taxis a wandering drunk in sway of indecision at the curb and a furtive sneak thief peering into a refuse bin Daybreak to be true rational should offer sheep past ribs the billetts for a the fountain A rooster in shrill bravado

OLD TIME SUCCESS STORY

Lowell R Harris who was now filled with banking interests in Upper Sandusky in the latter years of the nineteenth century began his business career as a merchant at Middletown Delaware county He started in business on his own responsibility with a borrowed capital of $65 waging against a strong opposition by an Ohio merchant and a branch establishment from Marion known as the Cheap Cash store both of which he succeeded in driving from the place within 18 months

Mr Harris soon disposed of his stock at Middletown and removed to Mt Gilead where he continued in business two years In 1849 as Captain Harris he headed a company of 80 men in a California where he remained 1 year

He later went to New York City where his business associations united him thousands of dollars in manufacture of skirt goods He removed to Upper Sandusky where he engaged in the banking business in 1878

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON Sept 14 A grapevine from Hyde Park brings word that Roosevelt will deliver one of the hottest speeches on his western trip when he stumps the country against the stormy chaos of the pattonist movement

They don't think it would fit in with the President's plan to let it be known that the crackdown per se is on for a while While upholding the main tenets of the new deal for the sake of discretion liberals they recommend that he refrain his flirting with heresy to business men Politically they say restraint for wealth is essential They want the G O P to do their fighting first and reserve the last word for themselves

Invitations for local speech and platform appearances are pouring into Hyde Park hourly So the rumor is to be that Mr Roosevelt will poke and jab a big fuss in recommingly impromptu remarks in the railroad yards though firing the formal salvo at St Louis Boulder Dam and San Diego

Fiction

The most tantalizing current problem for the Hyde Parkers to solve is whether the President will show up at the American Legion convention in St Louis on Sept 16 The odds seem to be that he will honor the service men in some way - by a message if not by a personal appearance

Both new leaders and the legion nabobs were disturbed at the latest realization that Daniel Cohn Tech foe of the administration had been asked to make the stump speech of the vets campaign Although both groups maintain extraordinary secrecy about their maneuvers there was an unusual flurry It is now reported that Mr Colby's health may not permit him to be on hand

Suddenly there appeared at Hyde Park a Legion delegation with a formal though belated bid for Mr Roosevelt to address the soldiers Insiders noted that a prominent member was J Monroe Johnson assistant secretary of commerce and the Legion chief gift to the new Deal—or vice versa If Mr Johnson negotiated the reported sidetracking of Mr Colby and the visitation to Hyde Park he has earned his year's salary already

Prices

Apparently the automobile makers have not been reading the testimony about their rich profits that was developed at the munitions committee hearings But President Roosevelt has followed it and ordered his gold sleuths in the navy department to take a squint at it

When the naval officials recently opened private yards bids for cruisers they peered at the highest prices on record for this type of vessel—higher than in the boom years They ranged from $17 000 000 to $17 000 000 although $10 000 000 to $12 000 000 was top in years when labor and materials were more than they do today It is the past the admirals would have accepted these quotations without question This time they rejected them

Contra

On the day of the Huey Long death an income tax collector hit in the governor's office hopping a plane for New Orleans He left and landed in almost service for he did not want his mission known But the President and the Washington inside is pretty much Louisiana may have it's trouble

Eight of the documents are under indictment for income tax violations including two who were present at his death and one is already serving time at Atlanta Government sleuths have heard that certain individuals would like to turn state's evidence They didn't dare while Huey was alive but now they may divulge secrets about political finances

Elmer Irey's sleuths have uncovered the records of income and outgo for the last 10 years This investigators have lined in New Orleans for more than two years They will naturally exert pressure to get what they want Many are ready to crack There may be some startling tales coming out of New Orleans soon

Trouble

The nonpartisan endorsements of 1936 victory with the committee's conclusion that Senator Long in best four billion dollar Put it's the no so sure that the social fund isn't proving a liability instead of an asset

It has already provoked a serious inter Cabinet squabble and it may lead to a major split in the official family It has brought complaints from practical politicians big mayors congressmen national committeemen It has caused grumbling among the bonus marchers who think that he other fellow is getting more relief than they are It has disappointed industrialists who looked for favorable words from Ickes PWA It has irritated new deal liberals who believe they detect politics at the bottom of boondoggling

The three official spenders Messrs Hopkins Ickes and Walker now know how King Midas felt when he won the boon of the Golden touch They agree that money is the root of all political trouble

Notes

Corporation Counsel Prettyman of the District of Columbia has ruled that schoolmarms may teach but not advocate communism J D Ross holding company czar showed up at SEC headquarters for a luncheon with Chairman Kennedy and then disappeared The Democratic National Committee violated the corrupt practices act this month its financial statement for the June August quarter was not filed until after September 10 the legal due date Giuseppe Creatore eccentric band leader recently on relief in New York City has been engaged to conduct an orchestra in Washington next winter popular with new dealers Maybe he'll play Happy Days Are Here Again

BY JAMES MCMILLIN

NEW YORK Sept 14 — The Republican party lost one of its best friends when Huey Long died This statement was made to the writer by a man who is recognized as one of the G O P's most important and adroit backstage strategists in New York His comment is given in detail because it represents the significant private viewpoint of the anti new deal G H Q

We had what amounted to a working agreement with Long or President Nat ally there was nothing down in black and white —but we understood him We wanted to lick Roosevelt for obvious reasons He wanted to lick him and let us win—because he figured our victory would enable him to build a much bigger following for 1940 It worked that millions of the Democrats who are still backing Roosevelt would be bound to come over to him once Roosevelt was beaten

He was all set to raise plenty of hell—and we were ready to see to it that he had enough money to make a big splash—indirectly of course

Difficult

Now the dream of a left wing third party in 1936 is as dead as Long himself There's absolutely no one in sight to head it and no time to develop a leader Coughlin is a joke Coughlin Don't make me laugh La Follette? Tommy—hell will until there's a reincarnation of winning Ditto for Wheeler Norris? Too old—and besides he likes Roosevelt Lynn Frazier? A small timer who has not the personality to build a national following Bob No chance We were really counting on Long more than we realized until now

We will have to revamp our battle plan and try to push Roosevelt farther to the left It's our only chance Maybe it will work if business makes him mad enough by refusing to cooperate or to take his word for anything But he's an awfully hard man to push unless he wants to be pushed

Huey P Long is buried at Louisiana friends have their say concerning him He was revered

Now that he is buried Americans no longer fear him will continue their investigations that he required

They will ask If Huey could make himself autocrat of one state dictate successfully defying federal government what might any one greater power with greater resources do with the nation?

We say No man could establish a Mussolini or Hitler control over the forty eight states from Seattle to Key West

How do we know?

What Does He Mean

Our earnest secretary of war says there is no concern of all nations over the average American will smallpox anywhere endangers all citizens but that does not mean you should get in bed with smallpox patients

War in Abyssinia doesn't mean American men and women should be put to bed in the

Porcupines Are Dead

Dr Gazin paleontologist means one who studies animal fossils proves that porcupines have lived in the United States as long as 15 million years and two years ago they were black

In our respect porcupines like other Americans modernity arrived They learned to get out of the way of automobiles The porcupine in the road thinking would dare touch his sharp tail a second later he knows and another second he's nothing He has not yet found a bullet proof tire against porcupines Fortunately the porcupine has the same belief that the whole world dreads him and will run from its source

That makes it easy to kill with a stick or stone If you touch him before he bites

Sir Malcolm On Caution

Sir Malcolm who has set a new speed record on the land of the earth selects the right time for speeding At home he helps English organizations established to promote safety

Terrific speeds developed by modern automobile put at the disposition of reckless youth sometimes drunken maniacs are far more dangerous in action than things than pistols or sub machine guns

Real Thinking

Dr Cutten learned president of Colgate University tells the Izaak Walton League that fishing provides opportunity to do real thinking undisturbed The fellow doctor was talking good sense to passionate fishermen of the league

He would have told young students that there are other ways of achieving real thinking undisturbed such as looking at the stars instead of a bobbing cork attached to a fish line or looking at an apple in its fall as Newton did or studying the face of a new born babe which next to the stars is perhaps the most interesting thing in the world

New Star Discoveries

There is interesting news of stars just now Dr Dunes of Wellesley College finds the rotation of Uranus at least two times as large as astronomers thought Uranus seen through a telescope looks something like a ring

Including new extensions Dr Duncan has discovered that one of millions of universes included in cosmic space is perhaps about two trillion (2 000 000 000 000) miles wide

Sir James Jeans British astronomer and physicist whose book Mysterious Universe and other books you should read changed his mind about the nature of the universe and like Einstein in when he changed mind he tells you

He thinks the universe is about 10 000 000 000 000 ten trillion years old That is a long time so Sir James Jeans and I are glad for all Jeans or anybody else to know it may mean less than an hour in the life of some other universe

You could not expect much from a microbe seeking to establish the size and age of Peek Man is that kind of a guy when he tries to establish the age and size of this universe Perhaps it doesn't matter whether the microbe's name is Jeans Fine or Newton

GREENBACK DECISION

One of the most important decisions coming from the state Supreme court which presided over by Morrison R Waite of Toledo was on May 1884 affirming the power of congress to make treasury notes a legal tender in payment of private debts

The court with but one dissenting vote sustained congress in issuing such an action Judge Field dissented Congress exercised its right during the Civil war and was sustained but it was for a war measure

The majority held the Constitution plainly gave the power to congress As to whether conditions warranted the action in the future before the court the court expressed no opinion for it was a matter clearly within the

Who will rule Louisiana now that the Kingfish Huey Long is dead? The state is a jumbled mass of politics and yet before the senator-dictator died, battle lines were drawn. Conferences were staged and observers point out that the following development may occur: Gov. O. K. Allen will resign, being succeeded by Lieut. Gov. James Noe, who would then appoint Allen to the vacant senatorial post. Friends of Long who may play a part behind the scenes are Abe Shushan, millionaire merchant, said to have financed Long's early campaigns; Allen Ellender, speaker of the house, who desires to be governor, and Seymour Weiss, owner of a New Orleans hotel and chief chum of Long.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Judge Is Disturbed by Fear of Mischief by the Boys

I COULD NOT see either Junior's or Roderick's but I knew as well as if I possessed Dr. Mythical's X-ray in back of my head. In which gullible children used to believe that Roderick had not realized I was near him before Junior's warning. Huh.

I did not need to hear his muttered Cor Wiliz to know that my face had reddened with chagrin if not actual fright at the possibility of my having overheard what my old William

Without any slightest indication that I had heard the colloquy I went on with my task of opening the box and I heard the footsteps of the boys rapidly retreating from my vicinity. I was much relieved to hear Williams voice accost me giving me a chance to turn around and send an apparently casual glance toward my young son and his cousin.

They were standing well out of arshot pretending to shy sticks at a mark which I was sure was entirely imaginary but though they were apparently absorbed in their game I caught furtive glances from each of them in my direction.

Scottie Is Excited

If you have nothing more for me here Mrs. Graham, Williams said, shall I get the dog now and take him for a run with the boys?

I think well all be deaf if you don't. I returned smiling for Scottie usually as well behaved a collie as one would wish to own had stood imprisonment in Williams car without protest until Roderick and Junior started throwing sticks a pastime in which they frequently indulged when Scottie was on the jerking end to bring them back. That was too much for dog nature and he was now giving vent to the earsplitting barks which only an excited dog can send forth.

Ill get him right away, he said but he went first to Junior and Roderick and a moment later I saw them trooping after him to the car where Scottie looked as if he might dive through the glass at any minute.

When they came back with the dog dividing his activities between short runs and ecstatic leaps upon first one boy and then the other I waited meanwhile mechanically going on with my opening of packages until they had gone a long distance into the field before admitting to my brain the perplexing problem brought up by the short colloquy between Junior and Roderick which I had overheard.

No Danger Now

It was not Roderick's stricture against old Williams which bothered me. Having already decided ha... Roderick was meddling with the cars I was only relieved at his patent disgust with Williams for having asked to have the keys taken out of the cars and put securely away.

His chagrin meant that there would be no possibility of danger now even if he and Junior should be permitted to sit in the cars and pretend they were driving one of their cherished pastimes.

I was glad that Katherine and Mary were absorbed in the task of keeping Faith from creeping off the sheets over the blankets which they had spread upon the grass for her.

With the perversity of babyhood, she was determined to get upon the grass outside the sheets, and Katherine and Mary were exerting all their wiles to turn her back from each edge without plunging her into wails of disappointment. They could not keep from laughing at her antics, and, fortunately, she evidently deemed their laughter as an act put on for her amusement for, she laughed with them in gurgling baby fashion.

Bridge Is Troubled

For a few minutes I could count on solitude, and with face bent over the luncheon preparations, I went over and over the questions I had put to myself concerning my small son.

There was a sense of disloyalty to him in putting the query even mentally to myself. I had been so sure of his sense of honor that it was like a physical pain to doubt it. But I knew none better the influence which can be exerted upon a boy by a close comrade whom he loves as Junior did his cousin and I had reluctantly come to the conclusion that Roderick was concerned in dangerous mischief of some sort.

With a determined effort I shook myself back to composure born of common sense. There was nothing I could do with the problem now save keep watch on both boys. With the keys of all three cars secreted as they were now, and as they would be whenever we left the cars there would be no danger as long as we were on the road. When I reached camp I would have time to think the problem out. I resolved to lock it away and acted on the resolution just in time for I heard Katherine's voice behind me.

Is that water hot yet? she asked.

Entertainers

IF you want to be put on the spot and a none to comfortable one at that, just try entertaining a four year old. Oh yes, it's easy enough if that's your job but if you happen to be of that era when all your relatives and your friends and their relatives and their children have passed the stage of having to be entertained it's some thing to squirm about. And if you don't believe it just try it. We attempted it and it's no secret that it probably will be the last. This is unanimous so far as the juvenile is concerned too. We got the little pigs to market but didn't know how to get them home. Likewise we left little Red Riding Hood stranded in the woods and so far as we know, henny penny is walking yet. There is just this to it, we either brush up on our nursery lore or admit defeat as an entertainer.

Pink Ears

SHE belongs to a supper club not an exclusive as it sounds. In fact it's just a pancake club. Wishing to be helpful at a recent meeting and by way of hastening the meal she bestirred herself to the extent of putting the griddle on to heat. She rubbed and polished the face with great gusto making a mental note that whoever put the precious bit of metal away the last time didn't do a very good job of polishing off that is judging from the looks of the shining cloth. The griddle smoked beautifully indicating to the hungry customers that there would be no delay from that quarter and imagine her embarrassment to say nothing of the unkind jeers she received at the hands of her friends when the official baker announced that the griddle was on the stove upside down.

WITH chilly evenings sending folks indoors book vendors are looking over their wares with an eye to what will please. The Book of the Month club has chosen Ellen Glasgow's "Vein of Iron" for their September selection. The great valley of Virginia provides the background for the story which is of modern life. Francis Brett Young has chosen a dynamic spinster of the last century for his heroine, marries her off to an itinerant laborer and builds up a family fortune in "White Ladies." The shelves are filling up with intriguing titles and glimpses between the covers of advance book news, promise a gay winter for the bookworm.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Epilepsy

Rapid strides have been made in the treatment and prevention of disease. Victims of many heretofore incurable diseases are now assured of recovery. But there remains afflictions of mankind that continue to baffle medical science.

For many centuries epilepsy was considered the most dreaded affliction. Believing the suffered to be possessed of evil spirits the ancients avoided the victims of this disease. Of course this attitude has no place in modern life because the true nature of the disorder is better understood.

Epilepsy must not be confused with convulsions in children and adults closely resembling epilepsy but the attacks differ from it in form and severity.

Convulsions in children can often be traced to a disorder like chronic constipation, rickets, undernourishment or some infectious disease. In adults the attacks are due to hysteria or some disturbance of the central nervous system. Complete cure is possible when the cause is determined and treated.

Epileptics and repeated attacks of epilepsy with or without convulsions is a more serious problem. It is no longer regarded as a hopeless affliction but it does require prolonged medical observation and care.

The attacks are usually due to irritation and change in the membranes covering the brain. It may be due to inflammation, hemorrhage, tumor or infection of the brain.

As a rule epilepsy can be traced to some injury of the brain at birth or shortly after birth. For this reason the disorder is more common among instrument born babies and babies injured during difficult labor. In every case a careful check up is made of the delivery and early life of the infant.

Within recent years various new forms of treatment for the cure of epilepsy have been announced. Some have been unusually successful, but others have been disappointing. No definite rule can be made in the treatment because each case must be considered individually.

Good results have been reported in the treatment of epilepsy by giving the patient a high fat diet. It is called the 'Ketogenic' diet and consists of foods rich in their fat content. No matter what the form of treatment may be, it must be administered under the supervision of a physician.

Housewives Urged To Send Recipes for Cook Book

AN ANNOUNCEMENT today of an invitation to women of Marion and vicinity to contribute to a cooking school which will come as a hard jolt to that interesting event and also a serious if quietus already is cited regarding the holding of the annual affair.

The cooking school will be held early in October, the sponsors a group of Marion merchants and The Marion Star announce in connection with the football and early activities on the part of those in charge of arrangements promise a worthwhile week.

Contributions from home women whose recipes in the past have won them recognition in the culinary field through the one and only sure method of trying them out in your own kitchen, are the most popular feature of the session and a highlight of the cooking school week the sponsors have discovered.

Names which have come to be familiar through some favorite dish are household words in many homes and not only the housewife but the entire household pours over the cooking school section to find the name of their favorite culinary author.

In order that ample space will be provided for all the contributions the sponsors ask that housewives start now to send their favorite recipes.

Cupids in the home economics departments of the schools in the city, county and vicinity also are invited to contribute to the collection and are asked to send their recipes in as early as possible.
